

"Dr. Vladimir Poponin and his Russian colleagues serendipitously discovered the DNA phantom effect during experiments observing DNA molecules with a laser photon correlation spectrometer. To their surprise, they found characteristic and reproducible patterns of photon scattering both while DNA molecules remained in the path of the laser beam and after the DNA molecules were removed from the laser pathway. They were able to detect the photon patterns (which they called the DNA phantom effect) for as long as several months after removal of the physical DNA from the system. They realized they had demonstrated a link - or coupling - between the electromagnetic energy of the DNA molecule and the zero energy vacuum substructure predicted by quantum physics."

[It's interesting to note that the early attempts to create molecular dynamics of models of DNA failed because repulsive forces between the negatively charged phosphate groups in the DNA backbone cause the molecule to break up after only 50 picoseconds of real time. However Levitt and Miriam Hirshberg showed, in the 1980's that when water molecules were included, the DNA double-helical structure was stabilised by the water molecules forming hydrogen bonds with the phosphate groups. Subsequent simulations showed that water interacts with nearly every part of the DNA's double helix, including the base pairs.]

The non replicating DNA, your future DNA, is being activated in many of you now.. Higher dimensional technologies using external forms of sacred geometry, etc. can all assist that awakening of your DNA codes and of your consciousness. However, in order for that awakened DNA to replicate to RNA - to manifest a new kind of being, a new lighter form of you here - that necessitates a biological sacred geometry that's embodied in every cell, that's flowing through your very blood. These newly programmed amino acids will be the building blocks that create a new you.

The medium of transmission for these new DNA instructions needs to be of a new order of sacred geometry. The old forms of pentagonal, and hexagonal clustered bio-water can be elevated as we step into our next evolutionary exploration. Chrysalis 8 encodes your cellular bio-water with new geometric forms, a higher octave of the Language of Light.

The future (presently non replicating) DNA codes holding your greater blueprint will now have a bridge to ultimately instruct the amino acids to restructure your present form. Many very real biological, biochemical changes will take place creating a form capable of conducting, holding and radiating more and more light..
